Late last night so far away,
I dreamed myself a dream,
Well, I dreamed I was so all alone,
Isn't it nice to be home again?

I say welcome home, didn't we miss your smiling face,
Well the sun was nice in L.A.,
I say sunshine,
Isn't it nice to be home again?

Yes, I say, Isn't it nice to be home again?

-James Taylor

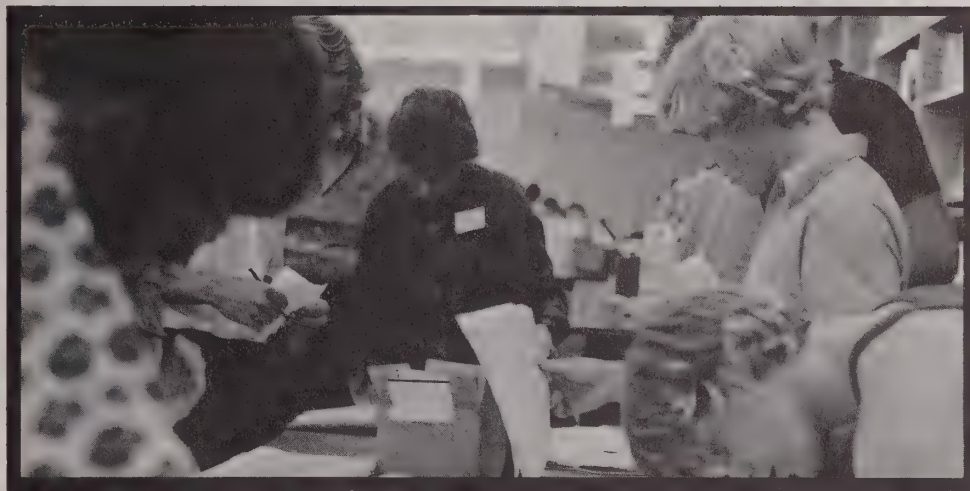

WELCOME. . .

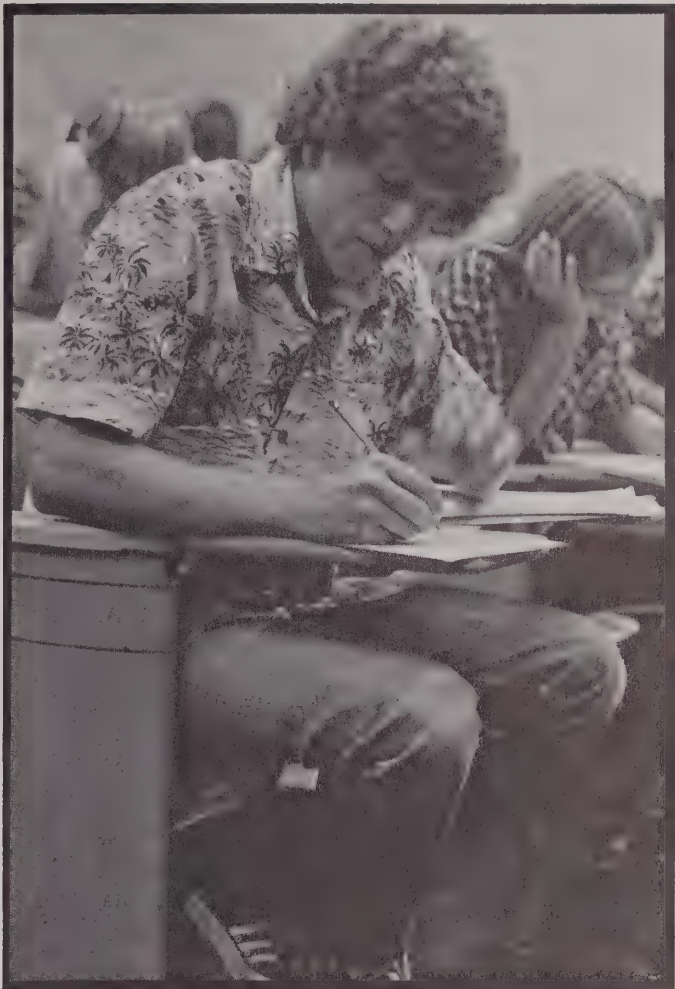

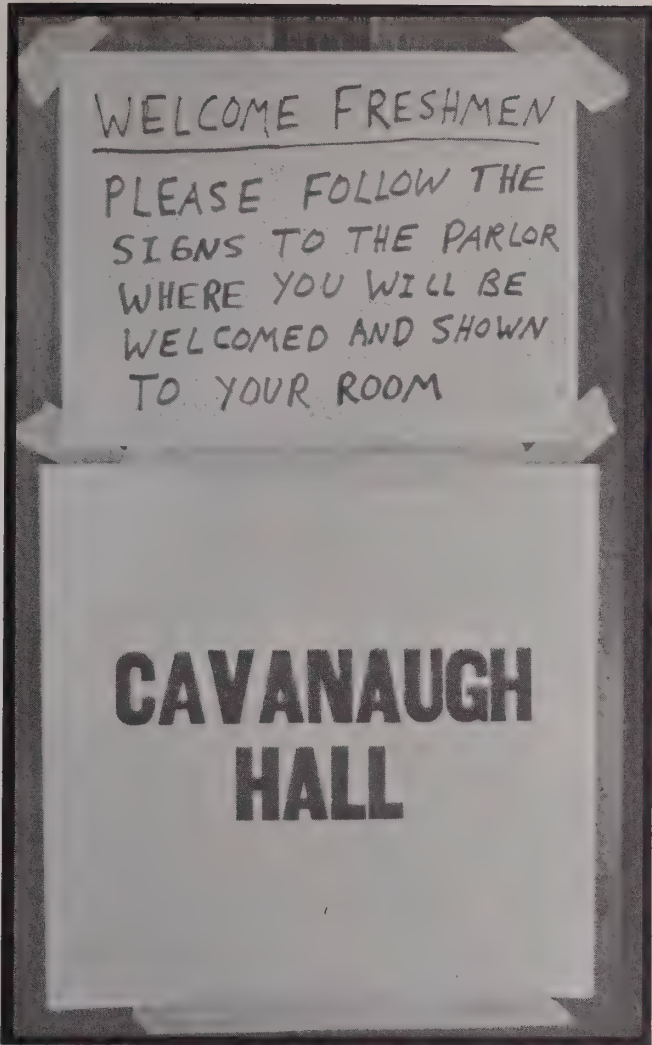

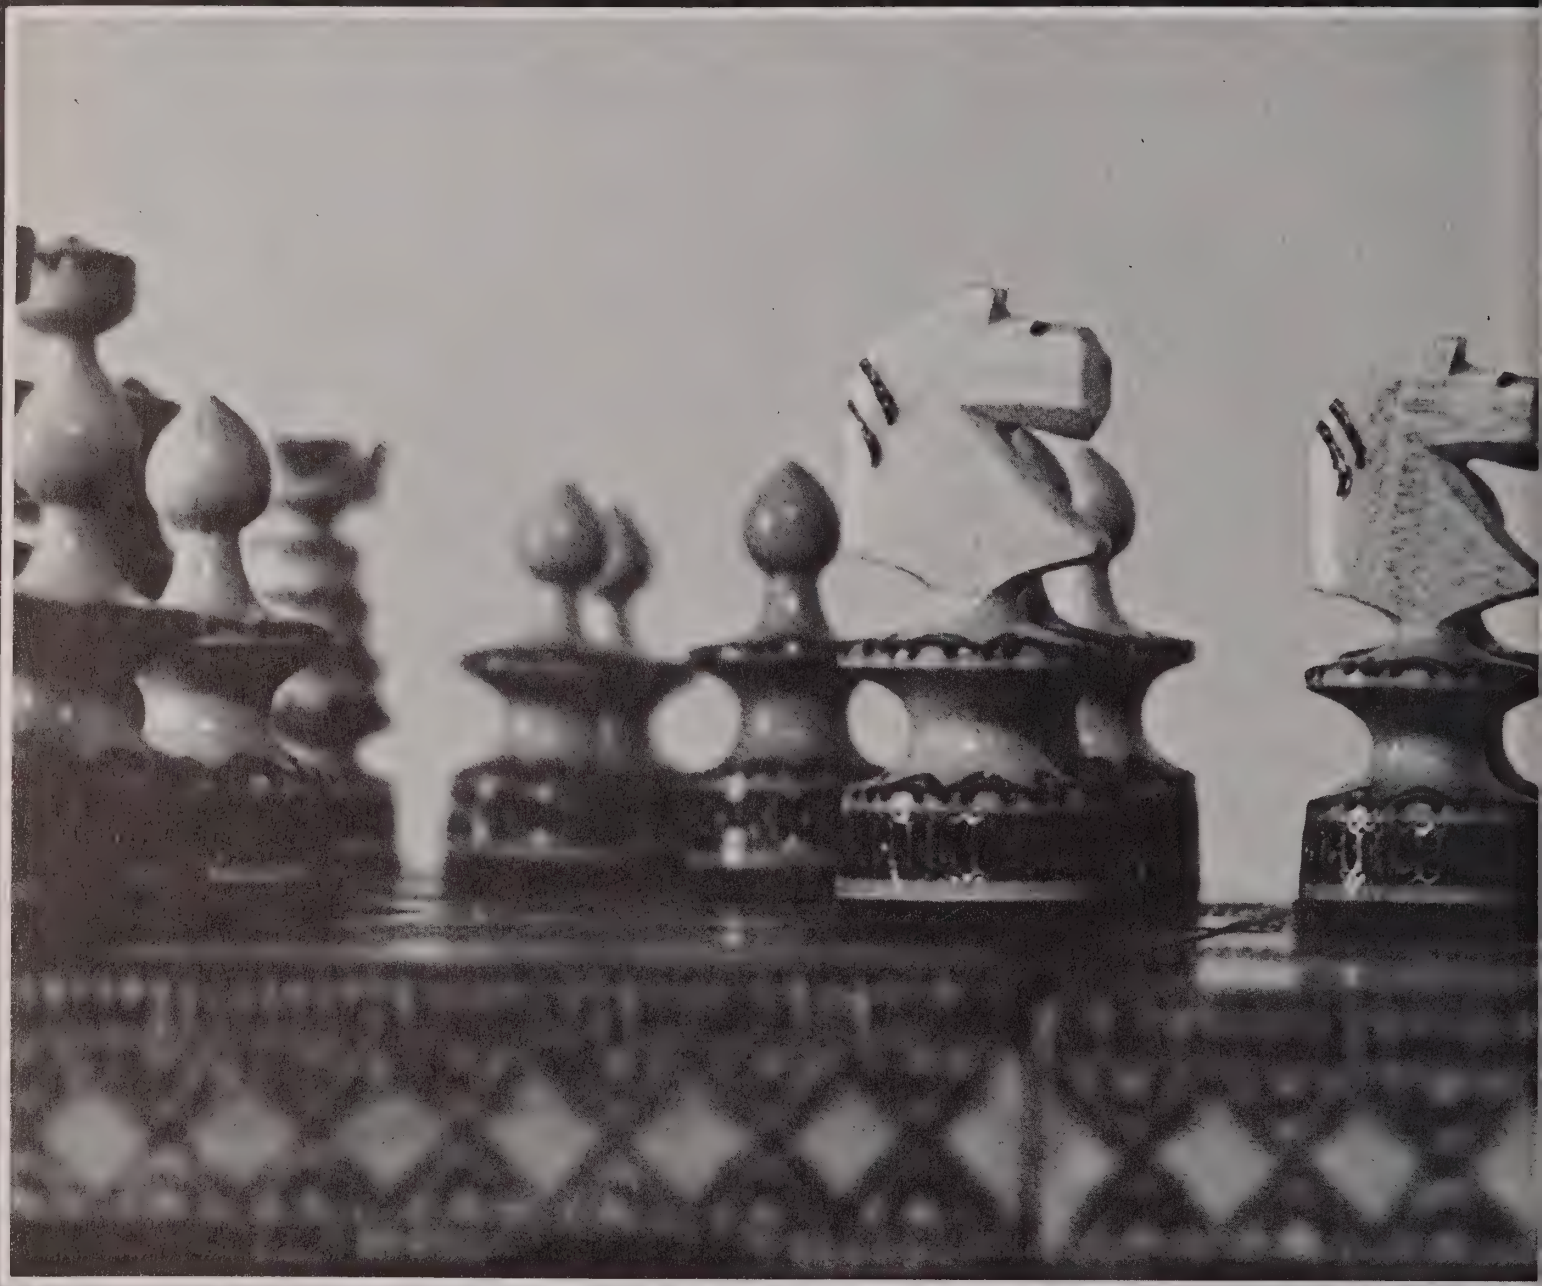

The game board of a college dormitory -
The checkered tablecloth at which a meal is shared,
Expectations lined and counted,
Face to face.
Remember when you first saw him?
Friend . . . or foe?
Preliminary anticipation, tension.

It's your first move.

Give and take - turns of movement,
The intermingling of black and white
Across the gap.

"Community, coherence,"
"Together, friendship,"
"A sense of unity."
Syllables resound in homilies, seminars, editorials.
Long hallways of look-alike doors,
Doors which must be opened to reveal the true variety.

We must struggle to retain ourselves.

The game board of a college dormitory.
Closer and closer still.
A ritual of strategy and luck?
A genuine commingling?
A battle of wits for recognition, dominance, survival?

But there are no winners, no losers,
Or are there? Lurking
Behind the ancient baseboards. Who goes there?

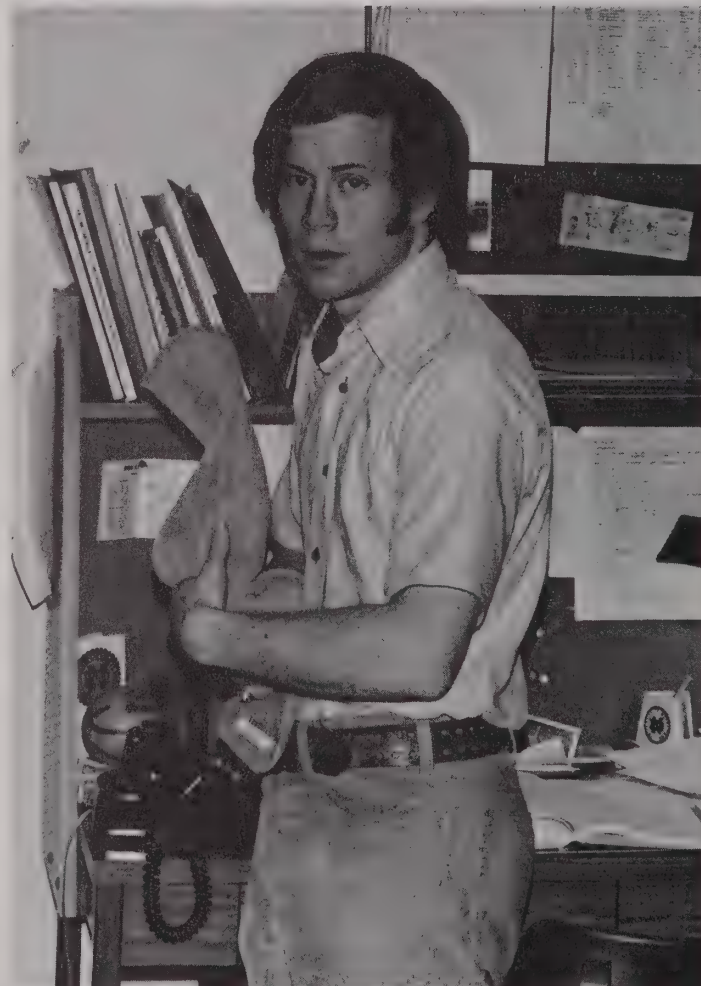

Self-assertion among the crowd,
Elevation above the baseness of a manipulated pawn,
"yes" to that part of you which is yours alone-

This is the challenge of the game.
This is the sweet victory.

ALUMNI

Alumni Hall is one of the larger and older dorms on campus. Its close proximity to the circle enables residents the fastest route to the Senior Bar, football stadium, ACC, and the parking lot. Life under the watchful eye of Brother John was relatively exciting this year, with freshmen accounting for almost half of the hall's population. Noted for their world-famous "hoagies" at football games, pre-game parties on the green field, and the ever-pornographic John Paper, Alumni Provides the proper atmosphere to live and grow at Du Lac.

BREEN-PHILLIPS

Breen-Phillips boasts a list of accomplishments second to none; little extras that make B-P what it is today: The Provocative Press—the ultimate in newspaper communication. . . the first women's pyramid—making pep rally history. . . the kitchen—where many a chocolate chip cookie is born. . . Betty's Letter Box—a late-night letter writer's dream come true. . . "Biggest Turkey on Campus"—money for charity, "a turkey for the turkeys". . . 10:30 p.m. Sunday Mass—a pilot for the soon to be aired game show "How many people can be squeezed into the chapel?". . . Yuletide celebration—Christmas party, Kris Kringle, "The Night the Animals Talked". . . 24-hour lounge—a drive-in movie, without the cars or the movie!. . . Breen-Phillips—a nice place to visit; an even nicer place to live!

CAVANAUGH

Cavanaugh is a quiet place. Its ivied walls are wrapped more in a long tradition of introspection than in the noisy frivolity of other dorms. Liberated from commotion, one can allow his thoughts to turn inward. It is this spiritual quality, as if Cavanaugh were an island of quiet in a sea of discord, which gives the dorm its charm. Within the shelter of Cavanaugh's walls is a tranquility few other places can offer.

DILLON

The wild floor parties are a thing of the past due to the ruling of the state and the rector. Luckily, so are the low G.P.A.'s. However, the indomitable spirit of the Big Red still pervades Dillon. Interhall football, basketball and hockey teams, the reknowned "Dillon Dirt-balls" and the "work hard and play harder" attitude combine with a growing contribution to campus activities to keep Dillon "the biggest and the best" of the South Quad.

FARLEY

February was a special month for Farley Hall, commemorative of the 100th birthday of its namesake. A sign in front of the dorm announced the occasion to the campus, and special events included a coffeehouse, talent show, lecture and slide presentation by Dr. Schlereth and a dining hall celebration complete with a birthday cake.

The Farley Striders, reorganized in the fall, represented the revival of an old tradition. Also unique to Farley are donut breakfasts, Father Griffin's 11:00 Mass and Farley Frolics, the hall's newspaper.

FISHER

One of the most progressive dorms on campus, Fisher has used enthusiasm to make up for what it lacks in size and splendor. President Bob Waddick, along with diligent hall staff and residents, brought Fisher out of the dark ages and into the enlightened era of hall T-shirts, hall improvements, their first hall football team, numerous social events and the involvement of the majority of residents in hall life.

FLANNER

The tenants of the Flanner Hotel do not claim to be "the most accommodating people in the world;" it is not the El Sleazo Grubbo either, at least not always. The manager of this fine establishment is Father "Moose" Mulcahy. "K.C." Geiger, one of Moose's many assistants, has made Flanner's "America" the best game room on campus. Here, students have found such formidable foes as Dolphin, Wizard, Champ and ABC, and discovered (the hard way) the meaning of a Sissy Chissy or Venetian Blind.

It is hard to develop a hall spirit with people who live nine stories away. Instead, the section is the nucleus of the student's life, a condition which results in many rivalries. As one student put it, "There is nothing beyond the second floor of Flanner. In fact, we're not even sure if life exists in 2A."

GRACE

Although its physical dimensions are the twin of neighboring Flanner's, Grace boasts the largest dorm population on campus. Its size alone provides residents with simultaneously different environments in which to follow their latest desires, whether they be to study or carouse. Grace is the only dorm on campus which operates its own TV station, and the hall sponsors extensive food sales, a basement gameroom, and the annual fall picnic on the day of the first home game. Grace hall residents have traditionally been supporters of various service programs, such as Grace's aid to the elderly and its work with a South Bend parish.

Sheer size is a key to Grace's peculiar success as that grand hall on the frontiers of the campus — Grace's size means something for everybody.

HOLY CROSS

Holy Cross Hall, the home of the Hogs, has a lot more to offer than a long walk to the dining hall. The small size of the hall tends to make the 160 residents one big family. Like most large families, it boasts of many traditions and activities, both comical and serious.

Everyone in Holy Cross Hall tries desperately to keep his birthday a secret, because if word gets around he'll be sure to be awarded an involuntary dip in St. Mary's Lake. This year an educational program was introduced in Holy Cross, featuring such speakers as Archbishop McGrath of Panama and Rev. James Burtchaell, C.S.C. The Hogs are very active in intra-hall sports programs such as football, basketball, softball, and indoor floor hockey. For U.S.C. weekend, the "legendary" Trojan Hog marked Holy Cross's contribution to the festivities. A Christmas star beautified the view across the lake during exams.

HOWARD

Smoke filled halls of fourth floor. . Third floor never sleeps. . "Jocks" inhabit second floor (plus Christmas tree). . Scholars on first—study more than one hour a night. . What can be said about Howard Hall?

KEENAN

The hall itself is dull and ugly - an architectural disaster. Therefore, it is a surprise to find that its inhabitants are anything but dull. Neither are they ugly, except for the perennial Ugly Man on Campus, Mike Sazdanoff. Keenanites range from the sublime, erudite John Mahoney to the physically dominating Al Sondej, Bill Jacobitz, and Lou Drago (to name a few). But perhaps the typical Keenanite is more aptly represented by the reclining Playboy reader pictured below: a conspicuously fun-loving, precocious chap, dedicated above all to his own pleasure, and, of course, to the glory of Keenan Hall.

LEWIS

The Holiday Inn on campus - new, clean, and free! September saw Lewis Hall in its first year as an undergraduate dorm. Brains are in the study lounge; lights are on in the three parlor rooms and ovens may be on in the kitchens baking provisions for perpetually hungry students.

To the ex-Badinities went the job of creating and strengthening the hall government. With one-hundred and eighty "freshwomen" residents the year's pace was quick and unfailing. In September Lewis was the first dorm to win the Rockne Award for excellence in scheduled hall activities. Second semester success at Mardi Gras and the Lewis Hall Formal showed evidence of hall spirit.

In the midst of ivy-covered buildings and sacred traditions, Lewis is beginning a tradition of its own. Young and spirited, it is now a vital part of the University.

LYONS

Distinguished by its famous archway, Lyons Hall overlooks the lovely St. Mary's Lake. Now in its 50th year as a residence hall and its second year as a women's dorm, it is the home of both the women's football and basketball interhall championship teams. Lyons prides itself on its diverse activity and its outstanding spirit.

MORRISSEY

2018902

A new rector, Father Bernie Prince, and a legendary newspaper, The Bull Sheet, marked Morrissey's golden anniversary. While Bernie punctuated his sermons with his own brand of Canadian wit, The Bull Sheet used its unique form of humor for quite different ends. However, both demonstrated that after fifty years Morrissey's close knit and jovial spirit persists and grows stronger.

PANGBORN

The year of sports success: The soccer team wins the fall championship; the "Violence" football team wins the South Quad championship for the first time in Pangborn's 20 year history. Infamous "Trouble" parties highlight evidence of hall spirit - good year, good guys, good times.

ST. ED'S

... And there, cradled beneath the magnificent splendor of the ponderous Golden Cupula, lies a wretched, ancient domicile - ancient even unto the days of Ceasar's Empire. Within I inquired, that I might unmask its mysteries. And thus spake Edward, High Priest, of its heritage:

"This be St. Edward's Hall, so well shielded in the shadow of the Golden Palace that it be not known but to a few which may happen by. Yet, here within many wonders occur. One eve, last autumn, a water breathing dragon called Hose was battled from yon balcony, discharging his damp venom into a deep pool on the ground floor. Another time, our landlord was so ired by the manuscript of St. Ed's Rag, he continued to brood many a day. And annually, we observe the Ugly Man of St. Ed's Festival, during which "Ugly Man of the Year" is crowned and for thright banished away forever."

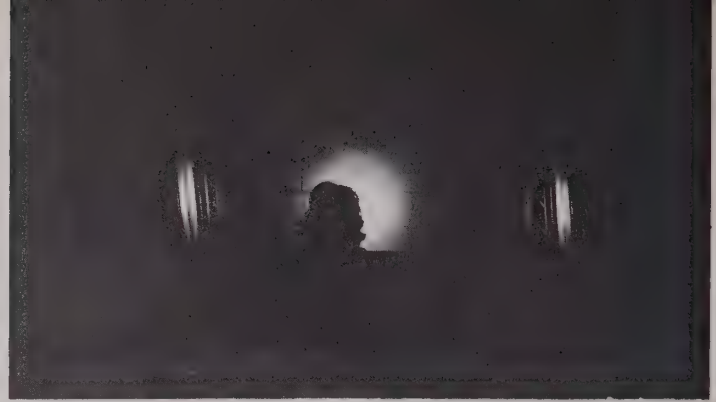

And we spoke night a fortnight of the mysteries and wonders, and how in spite of unsettling events, this tightly woven society of six score scholars enjoy blessed bliss and infrequent, but glorious orgies . . .

-Excerpts from the Journal of Marco Polo

SORIN

Since its dedication in 1889, Sorin College has harbored some of Notre Dame's finest. The names of many great Notre Dame men echo down its halls. These names, however, are not singularly important to the rich tradition that has long been associated with Sorin College. The building is named for the one man whose entire life was spent building a foundation for what has become one of the nation's leading universities. Carrying the name of the founder of Du Lac directly links Sorin College with the traditions of the past and distinguishes it from all other halls on campus. The residents of Sorin are proud of this heritage and are dedicated to preserving a standard of excellence as a lasting tribute to the first Notre Dame man, Father Edward F. Sorin.

STANFORD

The Stanford portraits, Effa and Grattan T., hang in the lobby and take it all in . . . "Do you think Keefe Montgomery will ever sell those hall T-shirts?" . . . "Becker would've won the "Stud Night" competition if he'd worn a tie." . . . "No sir, if you can't get in here, then you go to that California school." . . . "It isn't the shortest path to "A" line, but no one's gonna dump any more water on my head." . . . "Brother Viator talks so low, I doubt if a dog could hear him." . . . "Here Darby . . . Darby!" . . . "Did you see what they're doing in the basement of Haggar?" . . . "Did you see what they're doing in the basement of Stanford?" . . . "Keenan will be sneezing the feathers we left up there for weeks!"

WALSH

This year brought new faces to ND's longest established undergraduate female dorm. Walsh welcomed Sr. Susan Rosenbach and Eileen Concannon as the new rectress and her assistant. Although only 18 freshmen entered the dorm this year, Walsh women managed to maintain the enthusiasm and personal atmosphere achieved in previous years. This is easily noticed by the continuing "spirit" of the fourth floor, the revival of the unique dance routine to "Voulez-vous coucher . . .," and the aggressiveness of their athletic teams. Despite all the time spent on campus activities and weekend wildness, the citizens of Walsh find time to open a few books.

ZAHM

Located on the outskirts of North Quad, Zahm Hall offers all the comforts and fun of typical family life. The honorable parents, Fr. Tallarida and Fr. Matthews, provide the same tender loving care found among any other respectable institution. Once a year the Zahm family attires itself appropriately and attends dinner in the once pleasant, relaxing surroundings of the North Dining Hall. When the 37th anniversary of Zahm occurred this year, its members knotted the family ties in a huge celebration which ended with many losses, especially of lunch. The two family pets, Thor and Dog, provide endless enjoyment. Zahmbies engage in various forms of entertainment — from a pleasant evening spent with one of Murray's trained masseurs to screaming vain obscenities at certain neighbors. Also popular are snurfing jello (ask Vic), harassing Peebs . . .

ST. JOSEPH

St. Joseph Hall is a place wherein people may feel free to pursue their personal development in a community context. Seminarians and non-seminarians alike have many things of value to share with one another. St. Joe has served as a sanctuary for some students who, after being forced off campus, wanted to remain closeby. The hall can be considered an experiment—an attempt to have an atmosphere of true sharing, living together and working as a team. The chance to live with like-minded people combined with a greater sense of group and communal identity make St. Joseph one of the most unique and potentially rewarding living experiences at Notre Dame.

MOREAU SEMINARY

Built in 1958, Moreau Seminary functions primarily as the formation residence for Notre Dame men studying for the priesthood. The seminary houses 85 seminarians aging from sophomores in college to third year students of the priesthood. Also in residence are 22 priests, 10 brothers, deacons, nuns and 10 lay students who share in a unique Christian living experience. Moreau houses about 2000 overnight guests a year and is the retreat for the Notre Dame football team on those fall "nights before." An open, hospitable and prayerful atmosphere is evidence that Monreau is a successful example of theology in action.

OFF-CAMPUS

From one place to another,
And back again,
Often -
A person stops and looks at endpoints more closely.
When time is precious and work is involved,
Motion can't be wasted.

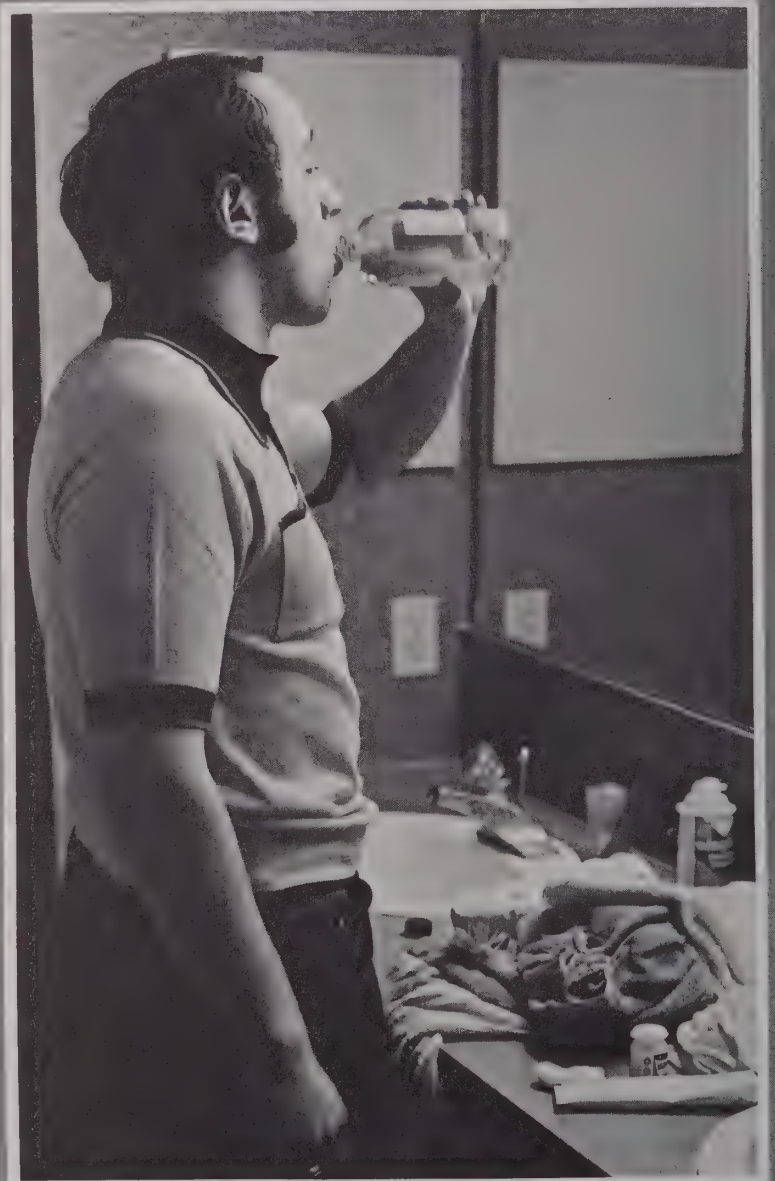

Living in two worlds,
One sees what one wants to see,
And takes what one wants to take,
Even if it's for granted.

Stoplights and Indian summer become obstacles to learning
Eating is drudgery or adventure.
Thieves play games with stereotypes.
Senility and babies need not be gaped at.

An extension of summertime - parties abound.
Freedom,
Yet responsibility.
A step from under the wing
Into a world beyond.

INTERHALL SPORTS

Interhall athletics, with all its regalia, emotion and fine competition, is a tradition unique to the Notre Dame residence hall. Football reigns over the fall as the monarch of the hall athlete, very much as the tradition of Rockne, Leahy and Parseghian dominates the entire campus. The autumn of '75 was no different. Pangborn and Keenan each completed undefeated seasons in their respective quads, meeting in the final. Unfortunately for the Pangborn "Violence" defense, the Keenan team was the better, coming out on top, 22-0.

BENGAL BOUTS

Capped off by two superb heavyweight fights, the Bengal Bouts had their most successful year ever in 1976. The bouts, dedicated to the missions in Bangladesh, celebrated their 45th year of existence under the guidance of Dominick "Nappy" Napolitano with the largest crowds in their famed history. The heavyweights featured battles between four of the best from the Irish football team, including the Browner brothers, Ross and Jim, Ken McAfee and Doug Becker. But, as always in the Bengals, there were no real loser, only winners.

ANNUAL SORIN TALENT
HALL (?)

FOOTBALL

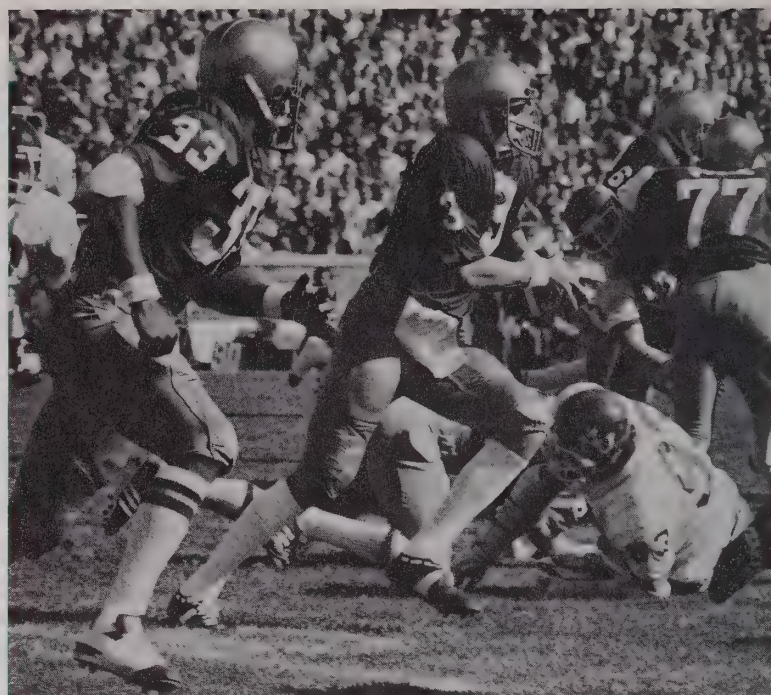

It was an unusual year.

The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame, long famous for their great coaching and fine offensive backfields, entered the season with a new head coach, four new backs and a general feeling of mystery surrounding the upcoming schedule. Coach Dan Devine, a veteran of the Green Bay Packers and their demanding fans, realized that Notre Dame, like Green Bay, lives and dies by its football team. The Notre Dame tradition is a source of pressure and anxiety to all who have coached the Blue and Gold.

But Dan Devine was no stranger to pressure. In his arrival at the university, he disclaimed that he was feeling any pressure other than the normal ones attendant with the coaching job. He could ask for no more from his team or from himself as the season began. Against Boston College, in front of a national television audience, the Irish scored 14 points in the second half to win 17-3. After the game was over, though, Devine had to admit that the pressure "almost killed me".

Five days later Notre Dame travelled to Purdue, downing the Boilermakers 17-0. The key play was Luther Bradley's record-breaking 99 yard interception return, ending a Purdue scoring threat just before it reached completion. Northwestern was the home opener, and the Irish won easily as quarterback Joe Montana came off the bench to lead the team to five scores. Freshman Jerome Heavens ran for 106 yards in 15 carries.

It was following the Northwestern game that the Irish suffered their first setback of the year. Michigan State dumped Notre Dame 10-3, due to a series of costly errors. Inexperience took the blame for the loss in a game that featured a total of 13 turnovers for both teams.

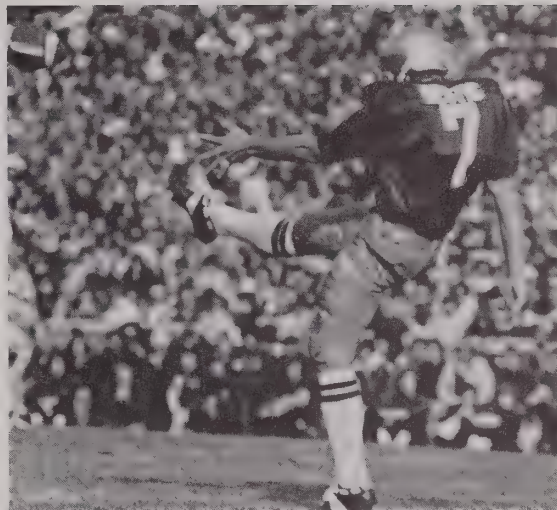

The next two games for the Irish, which everyone assumed would be breather weeks in preparation for Southern California, turned into near nightmares. First: North Carolina. The Tar Heels, with an 0-5 record coming into the game, had the Irish down 14-7 late in the fourth quarter. Once again, Montana came off the bench, tying the score and finally giving Notre Dame a 21-14 win by hitting split end Ted Burgmeier for an 80 yard TD reception.

The next week at Air Force, the Irish were down again with just over 13 minutes to play, but again the luck of the Irish came through. Montana marched the team downfield twice on scoring drives to bring Notre Dame within six. Finally, Al Hunter carried for 43 yards off-tackle to set up the final score and a 31-30 victory.

The next week the miracles were gone and Southern California downed Notre Dame 24-17. The Irish defense contained Trojan star Ricky Bell in the first half, but in the second half he ran for 100 yards and a touchdown to lead the Trojans to the victory.

Jeff Weston and the defense starred the following week against Navy; the Irish winning 31-10. In the final home game of the year, the offense came to life with a 24-3 triumph over Georgia Tech. The defense held the Ramblin' Wrecks, the number one rushing team in the country, to just 143 yards.

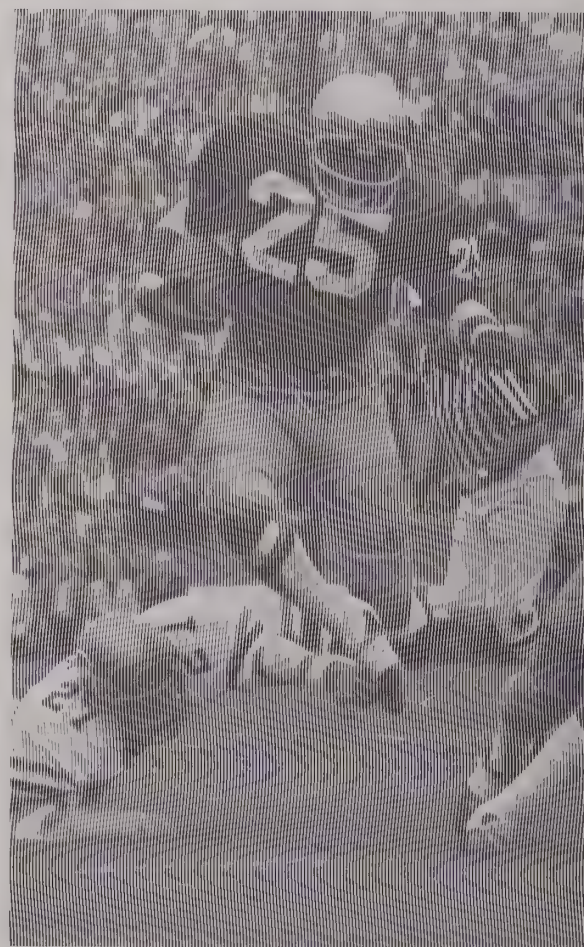

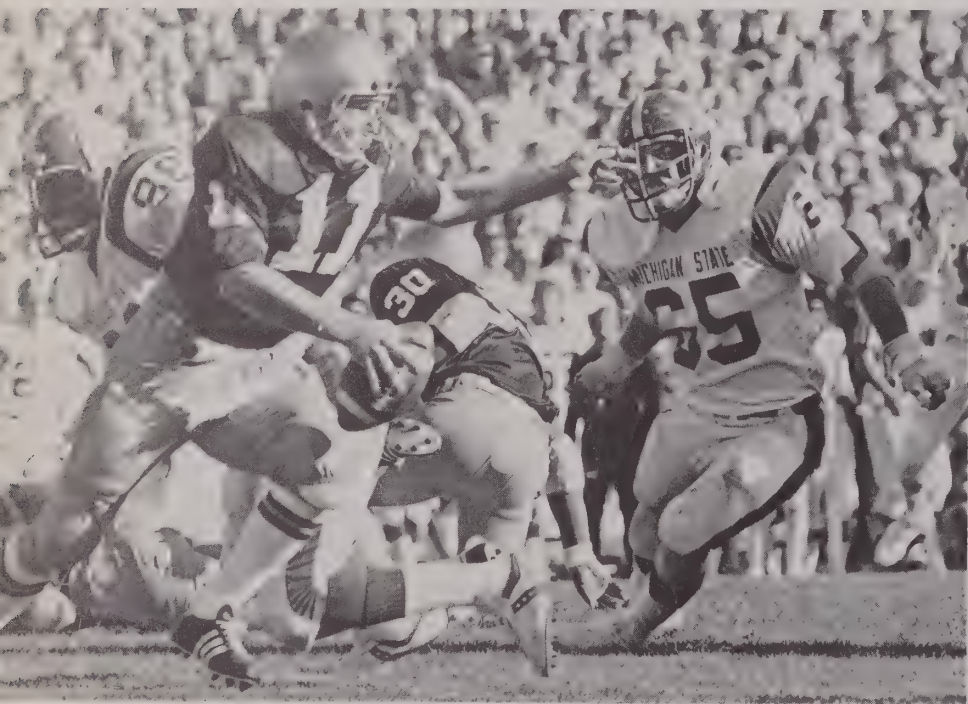

The question of bowl games raised its head, as the Irish were now 7-2, and candidates for a post-season appearance. With the question of whether or not to accept in the air, the Irish went to face the Pitt Panthers and Tony Dorsett. The junior tailback gave them a spectacular lesson in football, gaining 303 yards on the ground and 71 through the air to lead Pitt to a 34-20 upset of Notre Dame.

The bowl bid talk was still not over, but the Irish turned down the Cotton Bowl. Rumors flew, and this time the entire country picked up on it. Devine became the object of fire from all directions. Rumors of his dismissal surfaced prior to the Air Force game and again after the Pittsburgh contest. Despite the verbal harrassment, the new coach repeated that he was proud and glad to be at Notre Dame, and never once took the opportunity to lash back against his detractors.

A day before the Miami game, co-captain Ed Bauer handed Devine a message of support signed by the team. The next day, the Irish went out and showed their support of Devine to the world, crushing the Hurricanes, 32-9, to bring to an optimistic close a stormy season.

Remember. . .

You'll never get to heaven if you drive like the devil.

Officer Tim McCarthy

The Irish were blessed with two quarterbacks this season. Rick Slager and Joe Montana battled for the starting post all year, Slager winning in the end due in part to Montana's late season injuries.

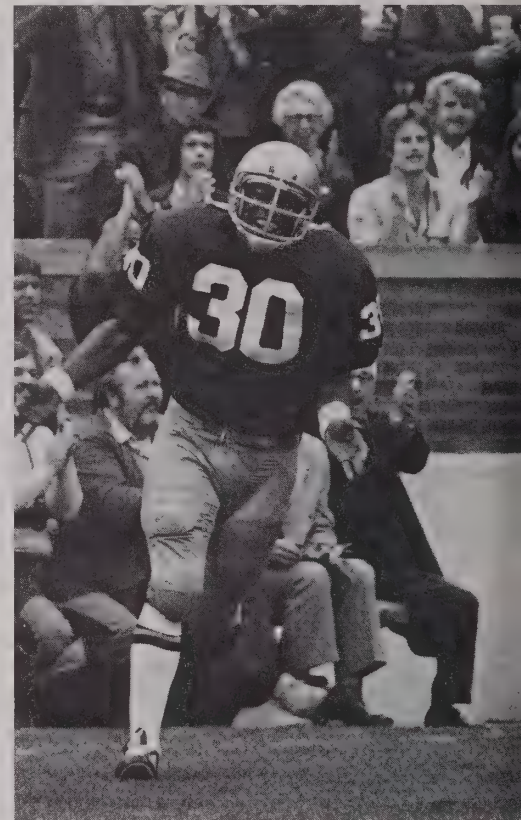

One special moment in the Georgia Tech game was the last-minute appearance of 27 year-old Rudy Ruettiger, a U.S. Navy veteran whose great ambition was to play football at Notre Dame. On the other hand, though, as punter Tony Brantley can attest, one does make mistakes occasionally.

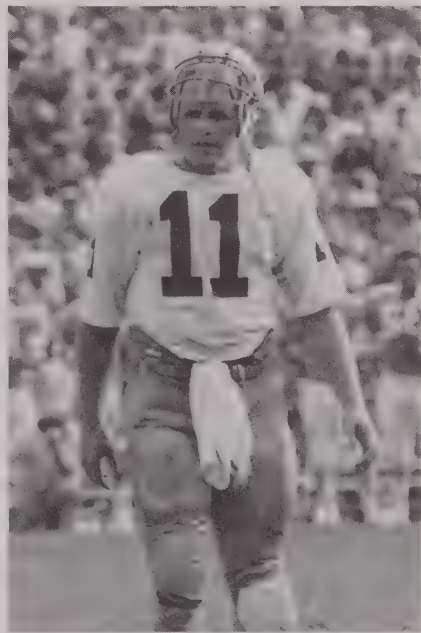

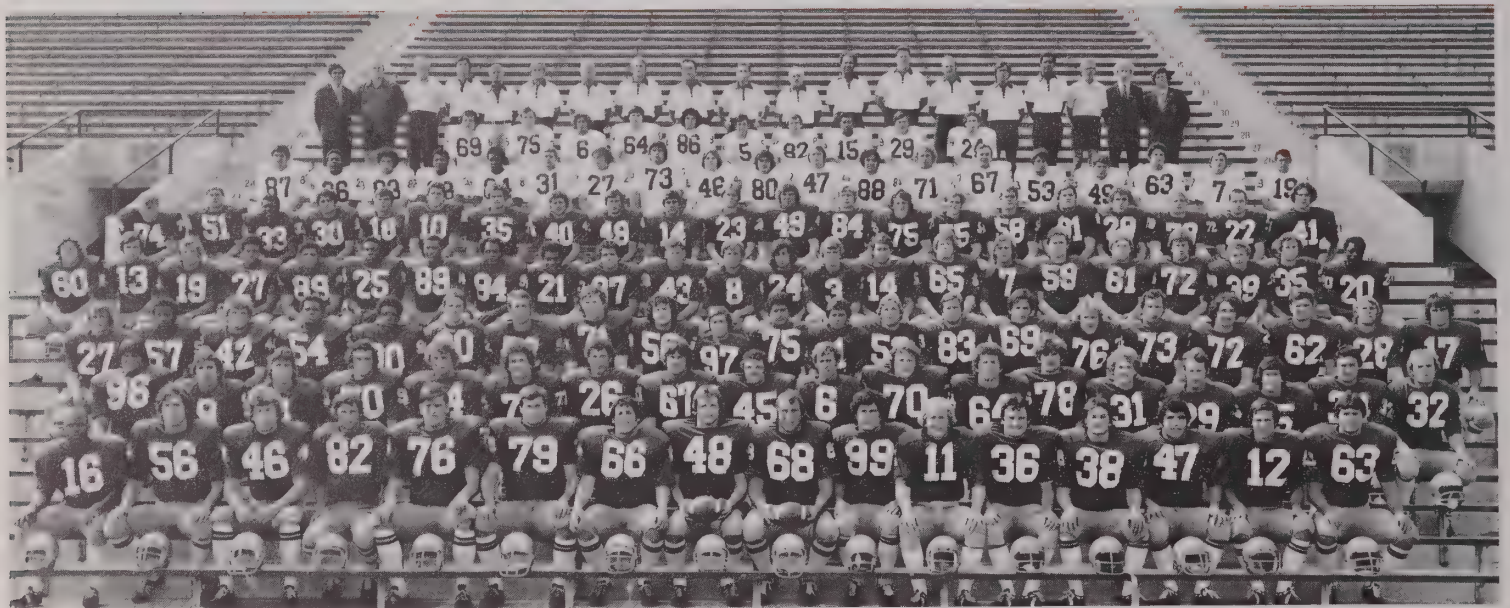

As has often been said, football is a game of emotion. Nowhere is this more the case than at Notre Dame. The joy of a touchdown, the intensity of a second effort, the ferocity of an impending block, the disappointment after an unsuccessful series of downs, the disbelief of the coach on a disputed call—these are what make Irish football the emotional focus of a South Bend autumn.

DEVINE

The man selected to replace the retiring Ara Parseghian as head coach of the Notre Dame Football Team was Dan Devine. His personal achievements included three years as head coach at Arizona State, and 13 years at the University of Missouri. In 1972, he was named the NFC "Coach of the Year" as the head coach of the Green Bay Packers. These credentials made him the first choice for the head job at Notre Dame. Amid a controversial first season, his team compiled an 8-3 record. Devine hopes to move into the ranks of Rockne, Leahy, and Parseghian as another legendary Irish coach.

VOLUNTEER SERVICES

THE NEIGHBORHOOD STUDY HELP PROGRAM

The Neighborhood Study Help Program involved 400 Notre Dame and St. Mary's volunteers. The program concentrated on tutoring elementary school students in eight South Bend area schools and four neighborhood centers. The tutors help the children with reading, math, and assorted other school assignments. These one-hour sessions involved two afternoons or evenings a week. Transportation was provided for all tutors to and from the centers. The activities of each center were coordinated by student captains.

In addition to the academics, the Neighborhood Study Help Program also sponsored other projects to allow all the students to get together outside the classroom. Volunteers in the program took the children to the ND-Georgia Tech football game, using tickets donated by members of the student body. As always, a spring picnic served as a finale for a successful year of the program.

ND/SMC COUNCIL FOR THE RETARDED

The council for the Retarded stated their philosophy in the Volunteer Services handbook: "As long as there are people who are willing to judge human character by its depth and capacity to love there will always be individuals to help the retarded child. All that is required is a little patience and warm understanding, and a conviction that each child has some quality for which he can be praised and for which he can value himself."

The Council was composed of students who desired to teach, and learn from, retarded individuals. The core of their program lay in Saturday morning activities at Logan Center, but they also sponsored special events through the year, such as parties and a trip to a ND football game.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

The Community Service Organization was founded on the idea that students, though busy with studies and campus life, were willing to spend an hour weekly helping the needy in South Bend. The Service was dedicated to providing students with meaningful, effective social service experiences. A wide variety of volunteer placements were offered by the group, including work in neighborhood parishes, day care centers, nursing homes, and schools.

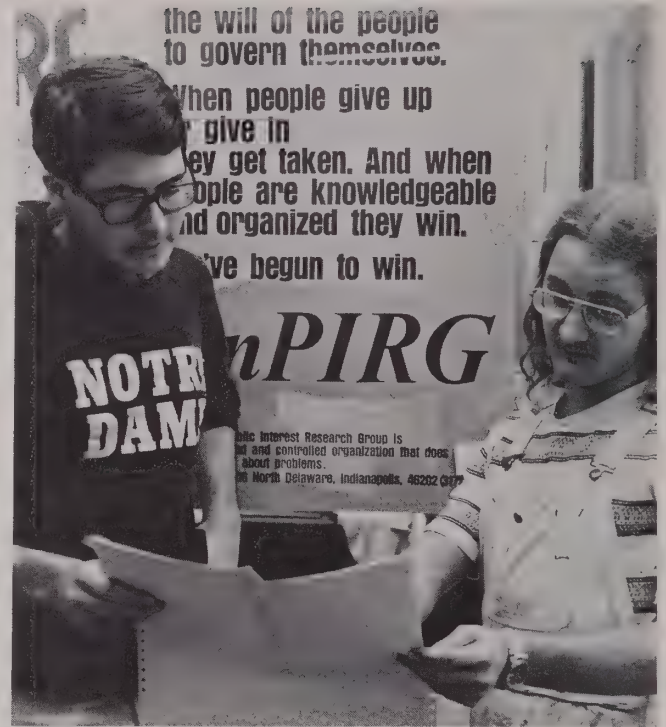

The Service was run by a board of directors comprised of one person from each residence hall at Notre Dame and St. Mary's. Each Community Service Director ran a neighborhood project and acted as a resource person in their hall for campus Volunteer Services.

Christmas candles burn all night long,
Notes are scribbled on scraps of festive wrapping
Carols pierce the silence of study -
A melange of emotions amidst biting Indiana snows -
Peace on earth, goodwill to men,
Undercut by the tedious trauma of final exams.

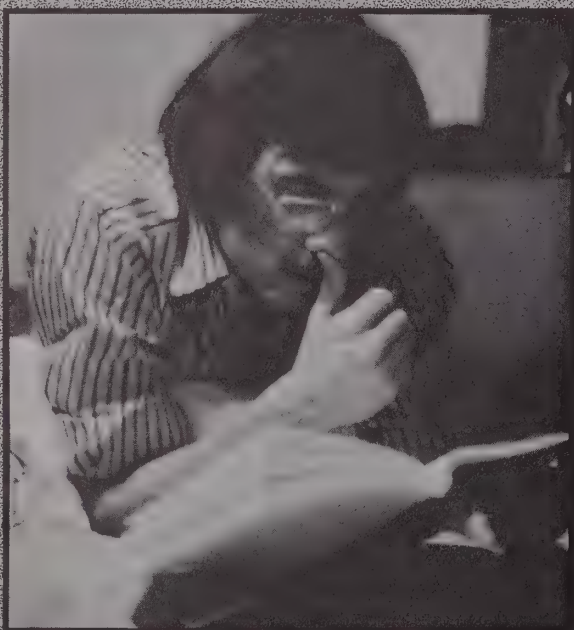

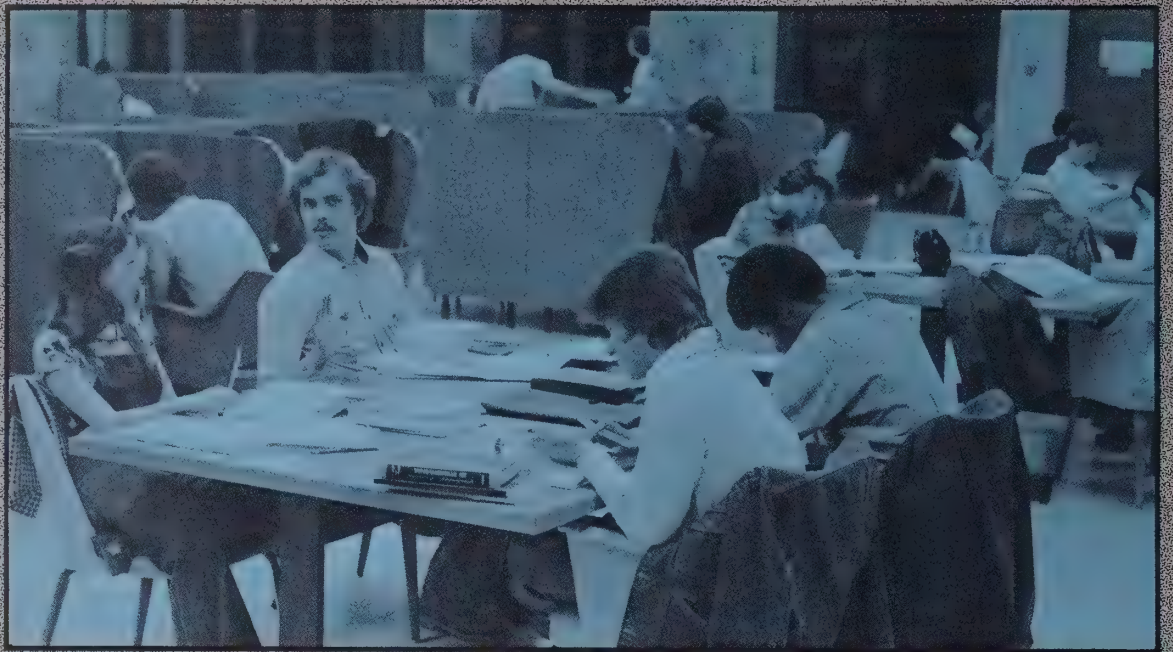

So, the season once again
Red and green in unlikely places.
Dressed up people in the streets
Smiling and wishing well to the world.
This is the time of a celebration,
A celebration and everyone is bathed in the glow
Of the season of good cheer. . .
Oh, but the rest of the year.

Silent snowfall hinting peace
Bloody habits are lifted from the earth
And cries of brotherhood
Ring out reaching the hardest of men.
He joins the chorus and loves his neighbor,
He loves his neighbor and so for one day
Nobody is killed along some agonized frontier. . .
Oh, but the rest of the year.

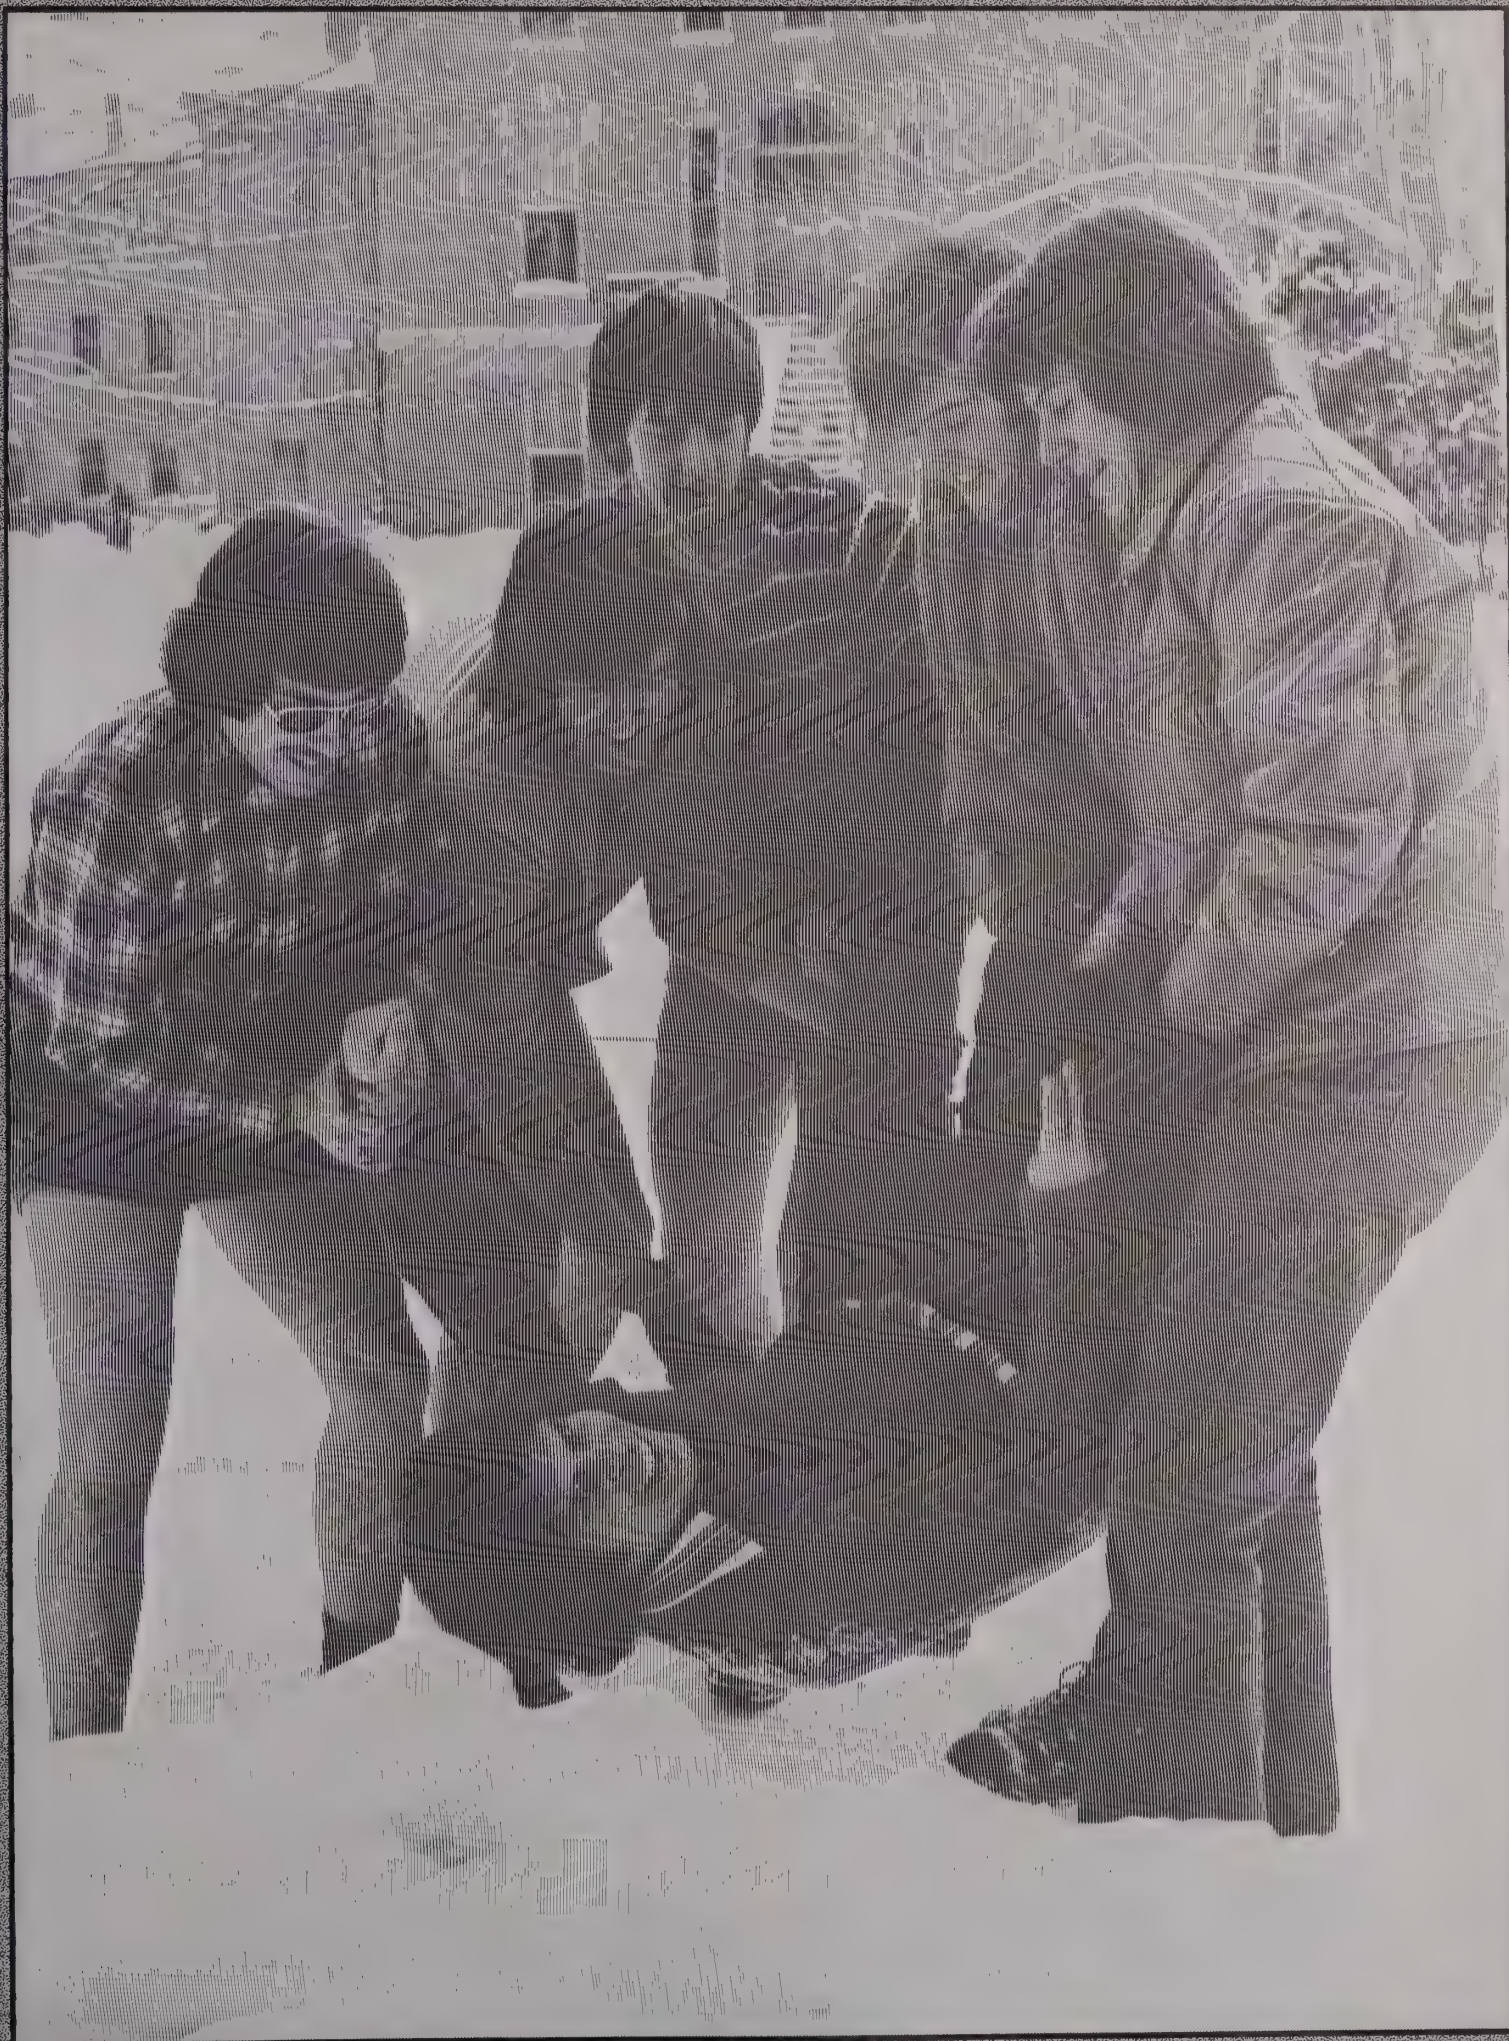

Voices raised in ancient song,
Praising, telling of joy and sounding odd
Beside the current rage
In this turmoil a moment of calm.
And to behold it from all the faithful,
From all the faithful, they gather now
To sing 'Alleluia' for everyone to hear. . .
Oh, but the rest of the year.

ACADEMIC COUNCIL

On January 23, 1976 the University Academic Council passed, on the second vote, a motion initiating a student-structured academic calendar. This was the first year that the council has conceded to the requests of the student body.

The importance of this decision is two-fold. The council has the final say on academic matters at Notre Dame. It is composed of nearly seventy members; twenty-five are administrators, twenty-seven are faculty, several are department heads, and only five are undergraduate students. Therefore, the successful passage of any student-sponsored motion in the Academic Council is an accomplishment in itself. Secondly, under the new guidelines, the students have finally been granted the type of calendar that they have fought for during the last five years. This shows that student government can be effective.

The successful passage of the new calendar can be attributed to the unselfish efforts of the student representatives who put in many hours of work tallying student surveys and talking to faculty and administrators. Their efforts, along with the effects of an organized and orderly student demonstration, were the crucial factors in the council's decision.

Upon assuming office the Byrne-Fitzgerald administration faced many problems. They inherited a $34,000 debt from the previous administration. The student body had little faith in the effectiveness of the Student Life Council. Much follow-up work was needed on the recommendations from the Committee On Undergraduate Life (COUL). And the hall judicial systems were plagued by inconsistencies and a lack of support from many hall staffs. The administration took action immediately to solve these problems. A student government team checked to see that the administration was actually working on the COUL reports. Another team wrote suggested guidelines that the halls could follow, and as a result there were hall judicial boards functioning in every dorm.

As some of these problems moved closer to solutions, student government succeeded in other areas. Notre Dame hosted a national conference on the responsible use of alcohol. It was due to student government leadership that the Academic Council approved a calendar proposed by students. And the student lobby almost persuaded the Indiana legislature to lower the drinking age to nineteen. Finally, a new filing system was designed to help make the next student government's job a bit easier.

The music department presented an assortment of chamber, solo, and ensemble concerts free of charge for the university community. The concert series, which lasted through both semesters, brought in several guest artists as well as featuring talented musicians from Du Lac.

Throughout the academic year the music department provided numerous musical opportunities for all students. Music enthusiasts participated in choral groups such as the University Chorus, Chapel Choir, Chorale and Glee Club. Active instrumental ensembles included the Marching Band, Varsity Band, Concert Band, Orchestra, Jazz Band, and numerous chamber groups. In addition, the department offered a wide variety of music lessons and appreciation courses. Students responded enthusiastically to all these opportunities.

In March the department moved into the newly renovated Hoynes building. The expanded facilities will enable the music department to provide an even better quality program for the musically interested student.

SOPHOMORE LITERARY FESTIVAL: VISIONS

The Sophomore Literary Festival celebrated its tenth year as an established tradition. Rooted in the very nature of literature which unites people of diverse concerns and personalities, the SLF continued to generate a sense of celebration unique to the Notre Dame community. Its uniqueness was in part due to the fact that it was a project coordinated entirely by members of the Sophomore Class. Every year a new committee, with the attitudes and enthusiasm peculiar to that class, has added another dimension to the continuing festival tradition.

Originating in 1967 as a symposium on William Faulkner, the SLF has attracted a number of literary scholars. The intention has been to maintain a broad scope touching a variety of literary genres. The 1976 Festival was no exception for it hosted such artists as: poet-critic Louis Simpson, Galway Kinnell, Robert Hass, Stanley Kunitz, as well as medievalist-novelist John Gardner, poet-novelist May Sarton, and internationally acclaimed Jorge Luis Borges.

The Festival took place in the Spring semester, lasting for one week. Throughout the week the artists visited classes, attended parties, informally discussed their views with groups of faculty and students, and delivered formal readings or lectures. As Professor Matthias noted, "Once the Festival is under way it never stops. One goes from one lecture to the next, to class with the authors, to a party, a reception, a symposium. The Festival is pedagogically useful, socially, a unique occasion. It is festive and good fun."

The 1976 SLF chairman, Michelle Quinn, along with her assistant chairman, Michael Sheehan, and a committee of twenty began working in early Fall. Preparations consisted not only of inviting and researching various authors, but making travel arrangements, coordinating dinners and receptions, ordering books, compiling posters and programs, and planning meetings between authors and literature classes. The details were numerous and time consuming, yet the moment arrived when all the preparations and planning ceased and the spontaneous, fun spirit of celebration emerged.

STANLEY KUNITZ: "Poems would be easy if our heads were not full of the day's clatter. Our task is to get to the other side, to the connectors with the stars and the tides . . . I am convinced that it is a universal human attribute to want to play with words, to beat out rhythms, to fashion images, to tell a story, to construct forms."

How can the books be broken to yield the dynamic answer, And we embody thought in living as does the dance, the dancer?

-W. B. Yeats

Louis Simpson

LOUIS SIMPSON: "I have written about many subjects: war, love, American landscape and history. I believe that poetry arises from the inner life of the poet and is expressed in original images and rhythms. The language of poetry should be closely related to the language in which men actually think and speak. . . .We are still waiting for the poetry of feeling, words as common as a loaf of bread, which yet give off vibrations."

ROBERT HASS: "I write when I'm happy. I write when I'm confused. I write to try to work out the confusion."

MAY SARTON: "It is my hope that all the novels, the books of poems and the autobiographical works may come to be seen as a whole, the communication of a vision of life that is unsentimental, humorous, passionate, and, in the end, timeless. We can bear any hell if we can 'break through' to each other and come to understand ourselves."

GALWAY KINNELL: "That we last only for a time, that we know this radiates a thrilling, tragic light on all our loves, all our relationships, even on those moments when the world, through its poetry, becomes almost capable of surprising time and death."

"We gather to celebrate. We celebrate the artists in their bravery to scrutinize our most fragile emotions. We celebrate the precision of their form for it tends thought with deserving seriousness. We celebrate the listeners who lease their private indulgences to learn. In our gathering of laughter, conversation, wine, seminars, meals and receptions, we have the capacity to celebrate even ourselves. A mid-winter week is enlivened by a throb of holiday spirit and the grandest hope, humanity, is provoked."

- Michelle Quinn, Chairman

The mock political convention, held the 3-6 of March, followed all trends established as tradition at the first such convention in 1940. The names of the speakers and delegates changed, and even the party was different (Democratic, in opposition to the Republican administration in office), but the fanfare and frustrations remained the same.

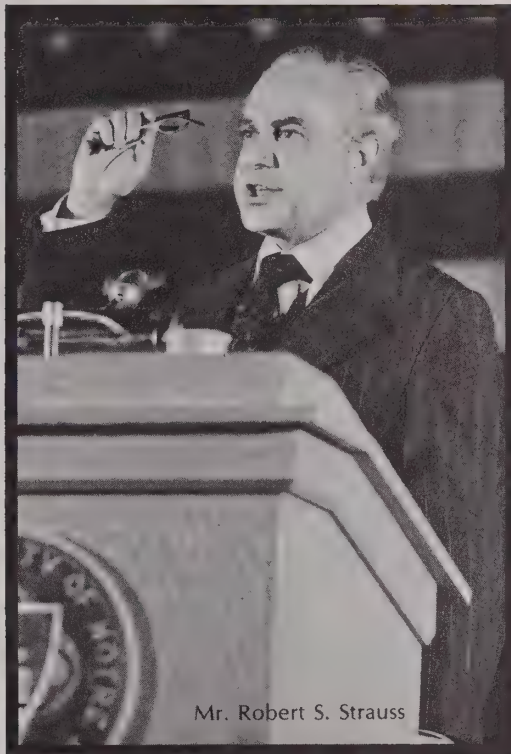

At 6:30 p.m. Wednesday the band and glee club established the celebration atmosphere that prevailed throughout the weekend. Their patriotic songs set the pace for the slate of opening night speakers that followed. These included Fr. Hesburgh, Mayor Nemeth of South Bend, and Mr. Robert Strauss, chairman of the National Democratic Committee, who gave the keynote address of the convention.

The work that Vince Moschella and Nancy Brenner, co-chairpersons of the convention, began many months before unfolded spectacularly on the convention floor Thursday night. Rousing debate over major planks echoed what had been argued repeatedly in Platform Committee hearings, but often with different results. The two most controversial issues were abortion and busing. The anguish evident by speakers on both sides of the issues made it plain that it was not all a mockery. In the end the pro-life (or anti-choice, as others preferred to call it) plank was adopted. Surprisingly more problem arose over the busing issue, as anti-busing enthusiasts refused to accept their defeat. They contended that a quorum had not been present at the convention when this last issue of the night was voted on at 3:30 a.m. by the tired delegates.

MOCK DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION

Another late night followed on Friday as the delegates struggled through the long process of selecting a presidential nominee. The leading contenders at the outset appeared to be Morris Udall and Jimmy Carter, with Jerry Brown having a strong following in California devoted to their favorite son. The usual political bargaining kept the convention at a fast pace as the votes moved continually among the candidates. At one point Udall was short of the nomination by only 40 votes, but was stopped abruptly by a coalition of delegates wanting any candidate less liberal than he. The hours wore on but no one could gain the needed majority. At 4:30 a.m., as the convention was forced into a sixth roll call, delegates turned to Hubert Humphrey as a compromise candidate and gave him the nomination by a very slim margin. The unpopularity of Humphrey as the convention choice was aptly demonstrated by the fact that he obtained only six votes on the fourth ballot. Many frustrated and disappointed delegates blamed the outcome on the California delegation who refused to break their block of '68 votes for the man we consider to be the most viable candidate — Jerry Brown!!"

On Saturday afternoon the displeasure with the presidential nominee was even more apparent as motions were made to unseat the California delegation. The motion did not carry, but it did result in one of the most spirited demonstrations of the weekend being rallied against the representatives from "the golden state". As the search began for a vice presidential nominee many delegates, wanting to "put a chicken with the turkey", threw their support toward Mandelo, the fighting chicken from Guam. However satirical and favorite son balloting did not last long as Julian Bond was nominated easily for V.P. on the second ballot.

When the convention closed the remains in Stepan Center were widespread and obvious. Not as apparent, but vastly more interesting, were the changes in attitude that could be felt throughout the campus. Students who were usually politically apathetic had become concerned and involved. This atmosphere set the perfect stage for the campus Bicentennial celebration that immediately followed the convention.

Congressman John Brademas

The mock convention was dedicated to the memory of the late Dr. Paul Bartholomew, Professor Emeritus of Government and International Relations, who was the founder the mock convention and passed away December 24, 1975.

Bicentennial Festival and Conference March 7-11, 1976 Notre Dame, Indiana

Cosponsored by the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College for the South Bend Community

"The Bicentennial offers the occasion for fresh exploration of that conception of America as a spiritual experiment, a voyage in goodness not power, perfection not progress. And it offers a time to reconsider how this current of spiritual ambition has existed in tensed ambiguity with the society we have in fact made, the point brought home in President Lincoln's phrase, "An Almost Chosen People."

-from the Bicentennial Committee's statement of purpose.

I walked through the ballroom of LaFortune on one of those dreary Siberian afternoons that dominated the month of February. It's the worst time of year, the time when students are most prone to be down on the whole idea of Notre Dame. Buried beneath snow and books and boredom, we have neither the energy nor ambition to shovel ourselves out.

I had heard the music from downstairs. As I reached the top step I realized just how skilled the artist was. A shape sat at the piano, dressed in the common garb of the aspiring athlete: sweat pants covered by worn gym shorts, a blue and gold knit hat, an unknown member of T-shirts enclosed by an N.D. sweat shirt and a comfortable and wet pair of Adidas. He was playing Bach.

There exists an exciting fullness in the face that this bundled form could play soccer on tundra as well as Bach on a Baldwin. The snow blinds us too often, as do the lab reports and kegs of escape. Good people surround us here. We need only to look and listen at the sound of their music.

BASKETBALL

"A. D."

If there are two letters that can bring Irish basketball fans to their feet those two letters are "A. D." While rapidly zeroing in on Notre Dame's all time career scoring total held by Austin Carr, Adrian Dantley is proving himself to be one of the most complete players ever to wear the green and gold.

This versatility is perhaps his most important attribute. Adrian excels in all aspects of the game. Obviously a great shooter and a strong rebounder, A.D.'s defensive and ball-handling skills have not gone unnoticed. All this combined with his amazing ability to be in the right place at the right time enables the 6'5, 210 lb. Dantley to consistently out-rebound and out-score taller opponents while drawing numerous charging fouls and creating many three point opportunities.

Moreover, Number 44 is an entertainer. Dantley combines his basketball skills with a showman's flair that can turn even a game against Ball State into an exciting evening for the fans.

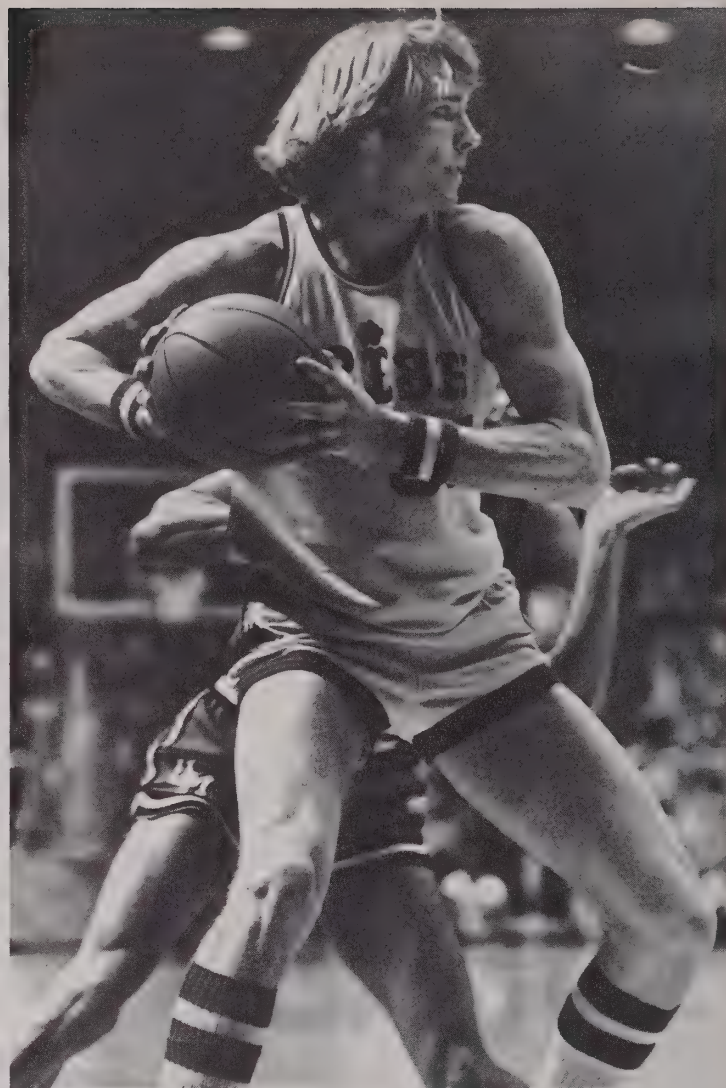

"Our goal," stated Digger Phelps at the outset of the 1975-76 basketball season, "is to win enough games to make the NCAA tournament." The Irish team, with Adrian Dantley, a talented bench and the best-dressed coach in the nation, accomplished just that.

The key to Notre Dame's basketball success this past season was depth. Digger's game plan over and over again was to alternate players repeatedly in order to wear out the opposition. It usually worked. With the exception of a few stalls (including one controversial one against Maryland) the Irish consistently ran their opponents into the ground.

High scoring Adrian Dantley led the Irish in points and rebounds, but in the few games when A. D. went cold the bench responded to the challenge. Billy Paterno, Dave Batton, Toby Knight, "Duck" Williams, Ray Martin and Bernard Rencher all had games in which they proved to be major factors in the contest's outcome.

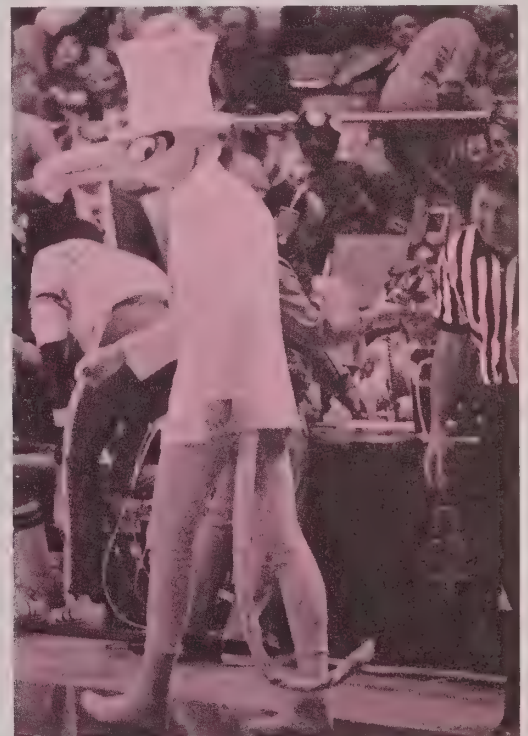

The three freshmen who appeared for Notre Dame this year attest to the fine recruiting abilities of the coaching staff. Rencher, Flowers, and Bill Laimbeer all appear to have outstanding potential for campaigns to come.

Following a disappointing loss to Marquette at the A.C.C., the Irish received their expected N.C.A.A. playoff bid. First stop was Lawrence, Kansas where Digger's men were to face the Cincinnati Bearcats, a tall, strong team not to be underrated. Notre Dame soon fell behind to the enthusiastic Cincy team, only to pull within one point with seconds on the clock. The Irish went to Bill Paterno, who had come on strong in the latter part of the season, only to have him miss the outside jumper. Toby Knight, however, was waiting patiently for the shot to go up, and when it fell off the rim he was in the air with perfect timing to tip it in, giving Notre Dame a 79-78 victory. But the taste of victory did not linger long for the squad, as they fell to Michigan and Ricky Greene in the regional semifinals, bringing to a close the best basketball season since the days of John Shumate with a record of 23-6.

JUNIOR PARENTS' WEEKEND

Junior Parents' Weekend, held the 27, 28, and 29 of February, proved to be a memorable experience for all participating. Friday's activities began with parents attending classes, and continued with a hockey game and a crowded cocktail party. Collegiate Workshops, a "meet your major" program for parents, filled Saturday morning. Late that afternoon over 15 priests concelebrated the class Mass; the chapel choir provided the music. More than 1600 parents, students, and guests attended the President's Dinner in a Stapan Center transformed by white linen and candlelight. Father Hesburgh was the honored speaker with Nancy Cuaroni, weekend chairman, as master of ceremonies. A breakfast in the North Dining Hall, featuring Digger Phelps as guest speaker, ended the weekend early Sunday morning.

HOCKEY

The agonizingly fast pace and the fact that teams rarely score more than four or five goals in a game, so that every goal is precious, makes the game of ice hockey one of the most hotly contested sports imaginable. Defensemen and wings alike battle every minute for position because the slightest advantage can mean the game. Consequently each hard check, each goal, means another emotional release: joy at the winning goal, frustration after a futile scoring attempt, and, very often, anger and the fights that draw hockey fans to their feet. The Fighting Irish, as their name implies, are especially cantankerous, as the actions of Brownschidle, Hamilton, Walsh, Bourque and Clarke so effectively illustrate.

The Irish icers, rated third in the WCHA pre-season poll, came off a disappointing but experience-filled 13-22-3 season for 1974-75. This had been the worst record ever since the initiation of hockey at N.D. in 1968. This year two early losses at East Lansing to the Michigan State squad appeared to be an unfavorable omen for the Irish. Nevertheless, the team managed to rebound with a sweep of the series at Colorado College. Troubles in the latter part of December were soon ironed out as the front line of Alex Pirus, Clark Hamilton and Brian Walsh rose to the occasion, intimidating the opposition. By January the team was on the upswing, gaining a fifth place tie with Colorado in early February while hopes for an at-home advantage in the WCHA playoffs continued to rise.

The Irish rounded out their 1976 season with home ice splits against the top two teams in the country, Michigan Tech and Michigan State. After losing the openers by identical scores of 7-6, Notre Dame came on to avenge the defeats by resounding 9-5 and 5-2 wins in the finales of the series, setting up the last home series of the year with Minnesota-Duluth. The Irish swept that series convincingly, heading into the playoffs with good reason for optimism.

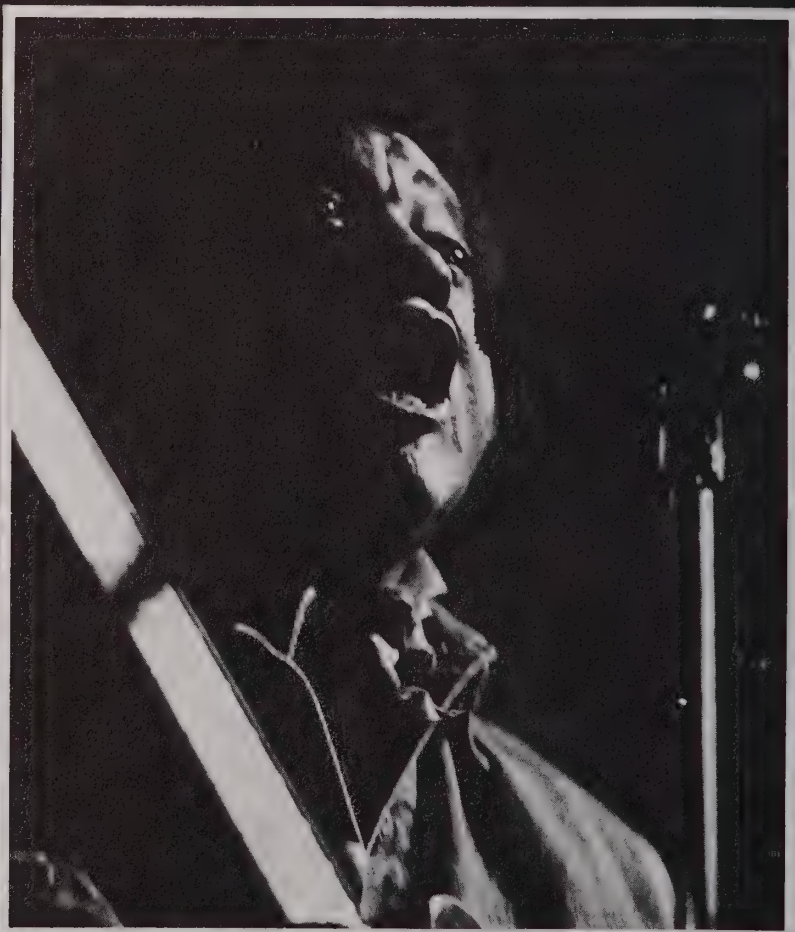

Over the year, Brian Walsh led the icers in total points, while right wing Alex Pirus had the most potent shot. Len Moher and John Peterson had almost identical records in front of the goal, sharing the playing time as the team finished well above the .500 mark, an admirable record in the toughest league in the nation.

The Wrestling Irish began their '75-'76 season with a new look. The matmen quickly adjusted to new head coach Ray Sepeta, showing great desire and dedication. There were quite a few high points in the season, especially co-captain Dave Boyer's new career victory record. Pat McKillen and co-captain John Dowd also contributed consistently outstanding performances. But it was Freshman Bob Golic who was the Irish star in 1976, sporting an NCAA championship invitation. In all, it was a year of adjustment for players and coach, with much hope for the future.

Coach Michael DeCicco entered his fourteenth year as head fencing coach with an amazing .886 winning percentage. Nevertheless, the Irish looked to have their best season ever in 1976, with the return of 15 lettermen and two All-Americans from the 23-2 1975 team. Notre Dame is led by tri-captains Tim Glass, Terry McConville and Mike Sazdanoff. In the Epee, the strongest N.D. weapon, All-Americans Glass and Ed Fellows fill the top two positions. The trio of Pat Gerard, Mike McCahey and McConville head the foil team, perhaps the finest ever at Du Lac. At the sabre Sam DiFiglio and Junior Olympic Champion Mike Sullivan are the strongest competitors, with Mike Sazdanoff providing experience and leadership. The team as a whole was rated first in the country as of late February, and was the top seed for the NCAA championship.

TRACK

The Notre Dame track team, with a strong distance and pole vault squad, entered the 1976 season with an optimistic outlook despite the rigorous schedule. Seniors Jim Hurt and Joe Yates led the distance specialists, while Irish record-holder Mike Hogan captained the field events at pole vault. In addition, three potential-laden Freshmen-Dave Benkert, Mike Rice and Gerry Wills-held down the middle distances. Joe Plane hoped, with the help of these and many other dedicated trackmen, to have a winning season in his first year as head coach.

The outdoor sport of golf and the bone-chilling weather of South Bend: a more incongruous combination could hardly be found. Yet the N.D. golfers excel. Through practice and determination, and the fine coaching of ebullient Noel O'Sullivan, the Irish golf team has produced an admirable record. This year the squad traveled to the University of Miami on their spring trip, and also participated in the Kepler Intercollegiate Invitational and the Northern Intercollegiate Invitational. With the help of NCAA invitee Paul Koprowski, these masters of the links have proven themselves in the tradition of Du Lac.

THE 1975-76 NOTRE DAME GOLF TEAM: N. O'Sullivan (coach), M. Donnelly, P. Koprowski, G. Huntoon, G. Strollo, B. Wadden, J. Delaney, M. Gennette, R. Knee, T. Williams, T. Saur, P. Behan, and J. Culveyhouse.

CROSS COUNTRY

The solitude of one man and the earth. . .the brotherhood of two men sharing that same ground: these are two of the motivations for cross country running. This is why a member of the Notre Dame cross country team will run for miles and miles in practically any clime. A runner's performance is but a measure of these motivations.

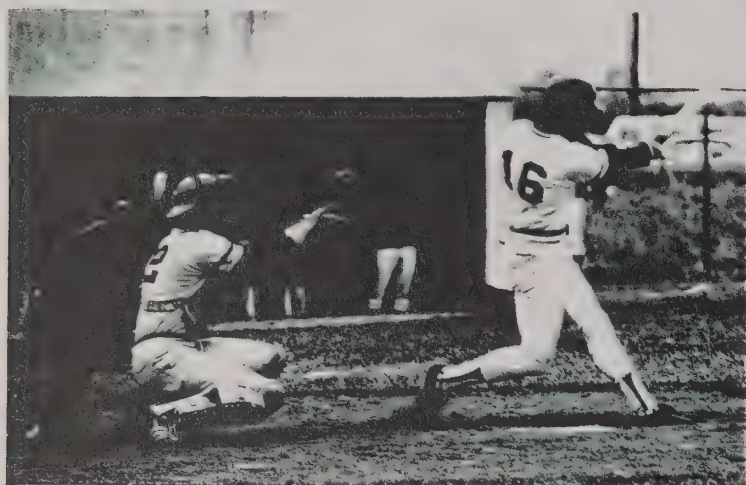

THE 1975-76 NOTRE DAME CROSS COUNTRY TEAM:
Front Row: D. Benkert, S. Welch, J. Miranda, G. Wills, M. Rice, T. Burns. Middle Row: J. Yates, M. Sullivan, D. Horgan, D. Vanderkraats, J. Reinhart, B. Allmendinger, D. Kiel, J. ## WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

Perhaps the most avidly followed women's sport, women's basketball entered its second year at Notre Dame with an optimistic squad. Returning star Mary Clemency teamed with outstanding shooter Judy Shiely and Freshman Carol Lally, a quick, flashy guard, to provide high hopes for a successful season. Coach Jeanne Earley, in her second year at the helm, added several new members to the team, including fiery assistant coach Sally Duffy.

BLACK CULTURAL ARTS FESTIVAL

A call for black awareness and self-evaluation was the focus for the six day Black Cultural Arts Festival. In an effort to instill an appreciation of black culture by both blacks and whites, the festival opened with an address by the Ebony magazine senior editor, Mr. Alex Poinsett. Panel discussions on the black athlete and "Blacks in Business" followed, and the festival concluded with the showing of the film "Sounder." The week's events strove to impress on the participants that black concerns are human concerns.

RUGBY

The mayhem of rugby and a team called the Fighting Irish: how could there be a better combination? The indomitable Irish, with their glorious tradition in the American descendant of that ancient game, could hardly find a more fitting occupation than playing rugby. For, like football, rugby is more than a game—it is very definitely a way of life. Ruggers, more than anyone, appreciate a mug of fine ale and boisterous songs. They are, in a word, earthy.

The game itself carries this same spirit. Rugby demands dedication to the high ideals of organized violence. As the bumper stickers affirm: GIVE BLOOD—PLAY RUGBY.

CREW

Crew requires precision, timing, technique and strength. But most of all a good racing eight needs togetherness. In this the Notre Dame Crew excels.

It is hard to understand why this half of this page seems more impossible to me than the other 327 pages combined. It could be the earliness of the hour, or maybe because it is my last chance to be sure this book expresses all I want it to. I can't be sure; it has been a long night, and a long year.

An obvious change in Dome '76 is the return to collegiate size. The editorial board agreed that the optical square had become limiting, and therefore decided to try the larger book. It served our purpose well. I apologize to all upperclassmen, especially seniors, for "ruining" their collection.

I want to thank all the people who made the planning become reality: Jim Commyn, who managed to organize the chaotic business of representing the senior class; Chuck Colbert, for his refreshing coverage of many clubs that had been neglected in the past; Greg Young and Tom Lose, who were sensitive to the facts when most were being carried by emotional exaggeration; Lisa Moore, who managed to demonstrate well what makes N.D. different from other universities; and Jack Culligan, who not only kept the financial accounts in order but, more importantly, helped me keep things straight. I am very grateful to all these people and to their staffs.

Joe Cupp and all others at Walsworth were extremely helpful, as well as being great hosts. I am grateful to Whitfield Delaplane and Delma Studios for once again delivering senior portraits of exceptional quality. I would like to thank Mary Louise Brown, secretary of Student Publications, for all her help, and I wish her luck in her retirement. Thanks also to Bro. Charles McBride, Student Publications Director, whose knowledge and advice contributed to the success of this Dome.

Because this was not a project that could be left in the office and forgotten at home, many more people became involved than the production staff. Thank you Connie, Kitty, and Nancy for answering the phone when people thought our room was an office. At times it could have been easily mistaken, but not only because of yearbook! Thanks Gary for making me take time out when the book started to overwhelm me. Special thanks go to my father, who learned the technicalities of a college yearbook in one week, and helped me survive through spring break.

I am finished now, this colophon was all that remained to be done of Dome '76. I present the book with hopes that it will be enjoyed and appreciated; that is why we made it.

I do not know Fr. Burke, nor do I agree with all he has done. But when he visited our offices in the fall his smiling manner was such a contrast to the usual stereotype that it was worth editorial comment.

SPECIFICATIONS AND CREDITS

The 1976 Dome was produced by Walsworth Publishing Company, Marceline, Missouri.

The cover photograph was taken by Thomas Everman. It was reproduced by four-color process lithography on a white satin binder's cloth in plain finish. The type is process yellow and is in 72 point Lydian on the front with Lydian Bold on the spine. The book is smyth-sewn, rounded and backed with headbands.

The page is collegiate size, 9 inches by 12 inches. The type face is optima with contrasting faces of optima bold and italics. Body type is 10 on 12, caption type is 8 on 9 and Senior Index type is 6 on 8. The book was printed on 70-pound matte paper.

Senior portraits were taken by B. Whitfield-Delaplane of Delma Studios, New York.
